How To Water A Peace Lily Houseplant. The peace lily's need for high humidity does not mean it needs a lot of water in its soil as well. While tropical rainforests do receive a great deal of rainfall, the well-draining soils in these regions allow the water to percolate down and away from the root zone, so plant roots remain healthy and free of root rot and diseases caused by too much moisture.

(My habit tracker from 2019) In 2019, I chose the word Excellence for my Word of the Year. That year, I really focused on developing habits and practices to lead a more excellent life (not a perfect life nor a productive life, but an excellent life – which I define more here).. One of the practices I established during that year was tracking habits.
